

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Last Updated: 23 June 2025

Welcome to InClearSite. By accessing or engaging with my services or website, you agree to the following terms. Please read them carefully.

1. Services

InClearSite provides website design and development services. All services are agreed upon in writing (via email or proposal) before work begins.

2. Payment

Payment terms are communicated before starting a project. A deposit may be required. Full payment is due upon project completion or as per the agreed timeline.

3. Intellectual Property

You retain all rights to your brand assets and original content. I retain the right to showcase completed work in my portfolio for self-promotional purposes (excluding sensitive or proprietary materials upon request).

4. Client Responsibilities

You agree to provide timely feedback, content, and necessary information required for the project. Delays caused by client inaction may impact timelines.

5. Cancellations & Refunds

If a project is canceled mid-way, a partial refund may be offered based on the work completed. Deposits are typically non-refundable unless otherwise agreed.

6. Liability

While I aim to deliver error-free and secure websites, InClearSite is not liable for any indirect or consequential damages, including loss of data or income.

7. Privacy

Please refer to the Privacy Policy for details on how your personal information is handled.

8. Governing Law

These terms are governed by the laws of India. By using this site or my services, you consent to these terms and jurisdiction.
